A Perspective from Starla:

What we, as people, may actually experience -- as our hearts open further to hold more higher energies of the fifth dimension -- may be, quite simply, unlike anything we have ever experienced before – and certainly very different from the expectations that some people hold: that this will be a form of rarefied human love, such as romantic love, only a little bit higher! There is no comparison between what we have known in the third dimensional energies of "attraction and heartbreak" to the fifth dimensional frequencies of selfless service to humanity and the feelings of devotion which inspire giving all of one's self to a higher cause benefiting humanity.

The world has rarely experienced these frequencies which we're in the midst of now – so people do not know what to expect. What is going to happen, quite simply, is a revolutionary change in our feelings for each other as the focus shifts from romantic love to devotion inspired by a higher cause – devotion with the intention of bettering the lot of all humanity from the unselfish standpoint of giving all of ourselves, without limit, from the deepest parts within us. There will not be the traditional need for concerns regarding "protecting ourselves" or only giving to a certain limit so that we do not "deplete" ourselves.

This is the image, still existing in human consciousness, which was perfectly exemplified by Jeshua Ben Joseph, Jesus, in his beautiful incarnation on Earth. This is the gift that he has left with us, the image of a spiritually aware human being performing this type of service for all humanity!

A Message from the Beings of Light:

When you feel this higher calling to give in this way with no sense of self or attention to personal goals or limits, be aware that you are accessing a much higher energy source than you have ever known before, so there will not be the danger of overreaching your capabilities and giving in a way that will damage or deplete yourselves. This will completely change the experience of love on Earth as you now know it -- where, indeed, it often is a game of "I will give you this, and only this, if you will promise to give me that."

There will not be the concern for self because you will BE whole already – with no need of preserving this state through negotiations which only artificially limit your divine capacities for experiencing true love – and this is what you are coming into now. When you are operating from the standpoint of knowing your wholeness, you will no longer feel the need to protect yourselves from damage, and when you are open to running these higher frequencies of energy in your bodies, it will be impossible for you to deplete your energies because you will know that you are consciously connected to unlimited supply from the divine source. The old consciousness of limited resources and danger from lack and limitation and all that this entails will be gone!

Teachers come and teachers go on the Earth, but you will have new teachers who will exemplify this knowledge and make it very clear to you, through their example, that there is a new way of doing things. You will no longer feel the need to always be holding things back a little bit, as you measure what you are giving to see if it meets your mental criteria for what is appropriate or expected in return. Love then moves beyond being ego-based and ego driven, and takes on a divine quality of selfless service to the All That Is.

Your hearts are transcending in energy and concept from the ideal of romantic attraction to a selfless concept where you realize that you are ONE with a bigger picture – all of humanity! One with the Earth and all her life! This concept is the foundation for new experiences of this idea – based on a concept of "A HIGHER LOVE" – where you enter into a state of ecstasy within this concept of unity and the connected quality of all creation – the "oneness of all life."

BE a part of this service now – by recognizing that you are more than you ever thought you could be – not in some future time, but right here, right now, in this moment! This concept will free you to experience "the return of the soul" – the connection with many parts of your divine consciousness which also are existing now in other dimensional realities and other time frames throughout all creation. They have much to teach you, much information to share with you. They see the world through new eyes, and have many new perspectives which you will come to share with them – as this information is integrated within you and becomes an active part of who you are, leading you effortlessly into new realities and new levels of consciousness where you will have many new and beautiful experiences -- unlike anything you have ever known!

Blessings to each of you,

The Beings of Light
