

THE CRYSTAL GRID SYSTEM OF EARTH
It's Structure, Intelligence, and Multi-Dimensional Energy Field's Effects on The Planet

The crystal grid system contains a huge "body of information" for the Planet Earth, since, as you may know, it is a multi-dimensional, intelligent "energy system." It is much more complex in its construction and operation than often is realized or appreciated at the present time by the inhabitants of Earth.

We say this, because it operates as a "dynamic intelligence," whose energy field extends both beneath the surface, within the body of Earth, and out into "space," beyond Earth -- the distance of which fluctuates, due to the shifting and changing of many circumstances. Often it may be found to extend a great distance beyond the physicality of Earth.

The amount of complex, crystalline-frequency information stored in this "energy system" could not be contained in even your most advanced electronic storage systems on present-day Earth, which necessitates that this intelligence be stored in both physically-oriented and non-physical energy structures of crystalline formation in and around Earth herself. These, as you may know, have both the intelligence quotient and capacity to store huge amounts of data within them.

Extra-Terrestrial "Fingerprints" Upon Earth

This "crystal grid system," as you have termed it, operates mainly on electronic frequencies, similar to radio-waves, but at a much higher frequency level than can be generated by any of the equipment which you presently have in operation on Earth. It is a crystalline-based intelligence, which includes much information both inspired by, and derived from, what you might refer to as "extra-terrestrial" sources, since its point of origin, or "creation," is of ancient lineage itself. It has recorded much inter-stellar activity and information originally derived, inspired, or "replicated," due to contact with what you would describe as "extra-terrestrial intelligences," who have had much to do with the formation of present-day Earth. Their “fingerprints” are upon the physicality of earth, as well as being stored within the endemic intelligence of what you may refer to as her “auric field,” “energy structure,” and “crystal grid system.”

The crystal grid system is much more dynamic and influential in the creation of earth’s circumstances than what is generally accepted or realized in the present day, but the relevance of this circumstance will be much more understood in years to come, when you have confirmation of this information from extra-terrestrial visitors to Earth. They will tell you of your ancient history, and reveal many of the present “inaccuracies in the record” regarding your true history -- and the many misconceptions about the sources for the origin of Earth will be corrected, as these facts are revealed.

Then you will have a much truer “record of the origins of Earth,” and humans will begin to take much greater care of the planet, when this perspective is communicated and understood. Many things will change as a result of this activity, and you will see that technology shifts to an “Earth-friendly” perspective, rather than continuing current practices which damage your planet. Energy systems will change, and “free energy” will be easily created and freely accessible to all, by many of the factors which will then be known about how the crystal grid system functions and Earth’s energy field operates.

This is just the beginning of the huge “shift in consciousness and technology” which is coming for the Earth. You are on the cusp of great change for your planet, and much of this is, shall we say, being “encouraged” at the present time by many of those whom you would describe using the term “extra-terrestrial.” We think of ourselves as “co-habitants” of Earth with you, because, indeed, we were here before you!

Our blessings to all of you, we co-exist with you in a vector of love,
